Charger Softball Coaching Staff

It's a new era around Hillsdale College softball, and a recent graduate is using the 2008 season as a jumping off point to that new era.

The new head softball coach for the Chargers is 2007 Hillsdale College graduate Jamie Meyers. A native of Toledo, Ohio, Meyers was a four-year starter for the Chargers from 2004-2007 and ended her career as the program's all-time leader in career home runs with 19. She was a three-time Second Team All-GLIAC player at shortstop and was team captain for two years. She was named to the GLIAC's All-Academic Softball Team three times and was the team's MVP in 2005. Meyers attended Sylvania Northview High School, graduating in 2003.

"Jamie is a great addition to our staff," said Hillsdale College Athletic Director Dr. Mike Kovalchik said. "Being able to keep her as part of the program, this time as a coach, is a real plus for us. She knows our school and knows our mission and will maintain those qualities and requirements in her new role."

Meyers was named head coach in September of 2007.

Returning for his second season as an assistant coach is John Redding. A resident of Hillsdale, Redding joined the Charger staff in 2007.

At Toledo Southview High School, Meyers was named All-District, and was a member of the honor roll in every semester she was in school.

Meyers lists former Charger softball coach Sunny Jones as her coaching role model.

Redding will assist Jamie in all aspects of coaching, including running practice drills and assisting with gameday responsibilities. Redding is a former head coach at nearby Hudson High School, and has spent many years playing and coaching in adult fastpitch softball leagues throughout the state.

A Q&A with first-year coach Jamie Meyers

Q: Describe the transition you've gone through from being a player last spring, to becoming the softball program's head coach this fall.

A: The transition from being a player to becoming the program's head coach has been a big one. I went from being the one who followed all the directions to the one giving all the directions which is a big change. The most difficult part that came with the change is the fact that I know almost of the players on the team on a personal level. It was a hard adjustment to make, having to coach some of your closest friends but on the whole I think it has gone more smoothly than anticipated.

Q: What coaching lessons did you try to learn as a player, and who was influential to you from a coaching standpoint?

A: As a player I always tried to be a student of the game. When I was not playing with my own teams either in season or during the summer, I was either coaching or watching my sister's team play. The two most influential people to me from a coach standpoint were Ralph Kreidel who taught me to play and respect the game in the right ways when I was younger and Sunny Jones. I can see the styles of both of these two in the things I do everyday. Sunny was a mentor to me when she was my coach here at Hillsdale and has continued to be so now even though she has moved on. Most of the administrative things that I understand how to do and my coaching style are very similar to Sunny's. She has been a constant help to me and someone whom I can always count on to be there for me to bounce my ideas off of. The fact that she knows and understands Hillsdale as well makes her even more of an asset to me.

Q: As a first-year coach, what are your goals for the 2008 season?

A: My goal for the 2008 season is to bring this program back up to the level that it needs to be at. This program has traditionally been very strong and full of talent and discipline. Historically our successes have come from pitching and defense. We had an uncharacteristically bad season last year and it is my goal to ensure that does not happen again. As always we want to make the conference tournament and our schedule is set up to do so.

Q: How do you feel being a Hillsdale alum will help you in the recruiting process?

A: Being a Hillsdale alum is a definite advantage when it comes to the recruiting process. The fact that I did attend Hillsdale and I am a recent grad allows me to connect on another level with the recruits that we bring on campus. When I tell them that it is a challenging academic environment yet they can still succeed they are more likely to believe they can succeed, because they are hearing it from someone who has made it through. Because I understand Hillsdale's philosophies and academic standards also helps in terms of trying to find kids whom I believe are more likely to return to Hillsdale following their freshman year. Although you never truly know what you are going to get until you get the recruit here for school, I believe that knowing the school as well as I do is a big advantage in attempting to pick out players I feel would be happy here both athletically and academically.

Dr. Mike Kovalchik Director of Athletics

The Hillsdale College sports program, steeped in winning tradition, promises young men and women seeking high-level athletic competition an experience that will make the phrase “student-athlete” personal and meaningful, rather than a rare exception or just empty words.

Although small compared to most NCAA Division II schools, Hillsdale plays “David” among the “Goliaths.” We kneel to none in our efforts to compete, while challenging the “best of the best” in head-to-head competition. Recognized as having some of the finest programs and facilities in Division II, Hillsdale athletics have earned a reputation among the coaching fraternity as the “giant-slayer.”

Sport is a universal language; it transcends all cultures; it has one common denominator—to strive for excellence. And when I look back on sport, I believe it to be one of the last remaining bastions where the Greek ideal of “Mens sana in corpore sano—A sound mind in a sound body” remains preserved. I believe Hillsdale College will be a part of history that influences not only this generation, but future generations, a place where the “mind and body” are challenged and developed.

To parents, relatives, friends or acquaintances of prospective student-athletes searching for a college where academic and athletic integrity is maintained and expected, and where participating in sport remains a privilege, I extend an invitation to visit our campus; you will like what you see!

In March 2007, he was selected to be the official stician of the MHSAA state high school volleyball semifinals and finals. In June 2007, Brad was also tabbed to be the official stician for the 2007 MHSAA state baseball finals.

Charger Softball 2008 Outlook

Meyers ready to send Charger softball team in upward direction

An offseason of change resulted in a recent graduate of Hillsdale College being named to take over the softball program.

Jamie Meyers, who graduated in May 2007 as the program's all-time home run leader, is the new head coach at Hillsdale, replacing Becky Martinez, who was in the position for one season. Meyers has faced a number of challenges in making the short transition from player to coach, but her passion and knowledge of the game are two big assets to her as she moves forward with the business of helping the Chargers win games.

"I know the kind of talent we have, and I know we can compete with anyone in this conference," Meyers said. "It's just a matter of us going out and doing it."

Three experienced, talented seniors will set the tone for this team in 2008. Pitcher Aimee Genter is recovered from an injury that limited her to just three games in 2007. She hopes to regain the form she had in 2006, when she broke the school's single-season strikeout record, with 199. She provides a steady personality and by-example leadership to the team.

Brecken Libbe is one of the most dangerous hitters in the Hillsdale lineup. But she's also valuable for her defensive versatility. Her quickness and strong arm allow her to play catcher and third base, two of the most crucial positions in the field in softball.

In her two seasons with the Chargers, Libbe has produced outstanding offensive seasons, picking up more than 15 doubles in each season, while belting a total of 10 home runs. She is an intense player who is a tough out vs. any opposition.

Senior Katie Botsis will move from second base to shortstop this season. She will enter her third year as a starter, and has also been a very productive offensive player. She is already in Hillsdale's career top-10 runs batted in list, and with another good year, could graduate as the school's champion in that category. She's also a capable home run hitter, and has a strong and accurate arm in the field.

The junior class is the deepest on the team, though the team's only sophomore, could be one of its most well-rounded players.

Junior pitcher Ellen Eldridge was one of the most pleasant surprises of the team last year, being pressed into starting duty after Genter's injury. She finished with eight wins after getting very little experience as a freshman in 2006. Eldridge will provide valuable depth and experience on the mound this season.

Another player coming back from injury figures to boost the team on offense and defense. Junior Britt Sevey returns to her previous position in the outfield. She missed the final two-thirds of the 2007 season with a shoulder injury. Now, she is back to being 100 percent healthy, and gives the team a good lefthanded bat in the lineup.

Junior Dana Gould has been a mainstay in the outfield since she arrived on Hillsdale's campus before the 2006 season. She is an excellent baserunner and is emerging as a team leader.

Junior Jamie Vandenburg is another pitcher who throws hard and will give Meyers another option on the mound. Alyssa Grewcock has grown into the specialist role of first baseman, and can swing a hot bat during stretches of the season. Katelin Simon is one of the team's most vocal leaders, and is a valuable sub for her ability to run the basepaths.

Senior Brecken Libbe's talent and versatility will be strengths of the Hillsdale College softball team in 2008.

The only sophomore on the Chargers is Devon Trimmer, who enjoyed an outstanding freshman campaign in 2007. She led the team with a .373 batting average and stepped into the starting center field position. Another lefthander, Trimmer has the ability to be among the top outfielders in the conference over the next three years.

The two members of this year's freshman class will be counted on to contribute heavily to any success Hillsdale has this season. Pitcher Kellie Hirst comes to Hillsdale after an incredible high school career at Mattawan, just outside of Kalamazoo. Hirst is a powerful pitcher and hitter, giving the Chargers a rare dual threat in the lineup. Hirst will be given the ball as a starting pitcher early and often this season, as she begins her career.

Jordan Kellie, hailing from nearby Adrian High School, will see plenty of time at catcher. She also figures to step into the middle of Hillsdale's lineup to give the team another reliable hitting threat.

The Chargers failed to qualify for the GLIAC Tournament in 2007, and returning to the postseason is just one among many goals Meyers has in mind for the upcoming season.

"We have to find a way to use all of the talent we have in the best way possible to win games and be competitive in the GLIAC," she said. "I think we have some young players who will go on to set records here. And our leadership among the seniors is very good. I'm excited to coach in my first year this year and see what we can do against some very good competition in the conference."

Hillsdale opens its season with a trip to Charleston, West Virginia Feb. 29-March 2. The Chargers make their annual trip to Florida from March 13-20 before coming back to Michigan to play in Wayne State's annual tournament. The team will play its first home game on April 4 against UM-Dearborn.

About the GLIAC

The Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (GLIAC) is Michigan's largest collegiate league, with 14 members. It was started in the fall of 1972 and since has grown to include more than 100,000 students and 350,000 alumni.

Recently, four out-of-state schools joined the GLIAC ranks: Ashland University in Ashland, Ohio; Gannon University and Mercyhurst College in Erie, Pennsylvania, and Findlay University in Findlay, Ohio.

The league's charter members are Grand Valley, Ferris State, Lake Superior, Northwood Institute and Saginaw Valley. Oakland University was added in 1973, Hillsdale in 1974, Wayne State in 1975 and Michigan Tech in 1979. Northern Michigan replaced Northwood in 1986, and Northwood rejoined the GLIAC at the beginning of the 1993-94 season.

Points earned for league athletic championships are counted in competition for the President's Cup, given for athletic supremacy in the GLIAC each year. Each season, the conference hosts a softball tournament, which now has a permanent home in Midland, Mich.

Patrons and Supporters

The Hillsdale College softball players and coaches wish to extend sincere thanks to the generosity and support of all of this year's patrons
